Caywood Named Kernel Adviser

W. C. Caywood Jr., editor of The Winchester Sun, has been appointed by the Board of Trustees as instructor in the School of Journalism and supervisor of the Kentucky Kernel. The appointment was approved by the Board Friday.

Caywood plans to resign from the Winchester paper early in May and will enter the UK Graduate School in June. He will take over faculty duties July 1. Caywood will replace Lewis Donohew who will be on a leave of absence from the University attending the University of Iowa to complete his Ph.D.

Editor of the Winchester paper since 1936, Caywood is a graduate of Centre College, where he was a student instructor in journalism during his senior year. He was employed in the circulation department of the old Louisville Herald Post before returning to Winchester.

He has been president of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club. He is a member of the governor's advisory committee to the Tourist and Travel Commission and the lieutenant-governor's Kentucky Development Council, and is a former president of the Kentucky Press Association.

SC Spring Voting Is Still Uncertain

By BILL GRANT
Kernel Staff Writer

The question of whether or not a spring election of Student Congress officers will be held is still undecided.

A special meeting in Lafferty Hall was called Monday evening to suspend a section of the constitution's by-laws and pave the way for a spring election but was dismissed for lack of a quorum.

Only 15 members of the congress were present and President Raleigh Lane dismissed the meeting. Lane remarked that he could see no sense in calling another gathering so long as it appeared obvious that not enough members were interested in attending.

After Lane dismissed the meeting at approximately 7:25 p.m., 13 congress members signed a petition for another meeting, circulated by Bill Kenton. The pe-tion asks for a meeting on that date.

Nominations for Student Congress officers had already been made when Lane announced last week that an oversight had been made and the Student Congress By-laws would not allow a spring election.

The By-laws of Student Congress provide that the elections shall take place in the fall semester "not earlier than the first day of the third full-week of classes and not later than the last day of the fourth full-week of classes." This provision of Article I Section 1 deals with the election of members.

Article I Section 2 provides that SC officers be elected at the first meeting following the election of members. The constitution also provides that officers be elected by the SC Assembly, not in a campus-wide election.

The present SC officers were elected in a campus-wide election last spring after being nominated by the assembly.

This election was made possible by a suspension of the By-laws. However, the By-laws went back into effect after the election.

Lane has been attempting to get a quorum at an SC meeting in order to once again suspend the By-laws to make way for a spring election.

The election had been set for April 30 before the oversight was discovered.

In opening Monday night's meeting, Lane told the group that he had called the meeting in order to suspend the By-laws and that it would require a two-thirds vote of the members present to do so.

The meeting was unable to convene, however, because a quorum was not present.

Bill Kenton, an SC member, rose and said he understood that the meeting could continue if a quorum was not questioned by a member of the Assembly.

To this, Lane replied, "I am questioning the quorum."

Lane said that he would not call another meeting because, if Student Congress members did not show enough interest to attend a well-announced meeting he did not feel that he should call another one.

"Student Congress needs a complete revamping. The organization needs to be completely purged," Lane said.

Kenton then asked if Lane would not call another meeting and appoint a committee to contact each member personally to see that a quorum was present.

Lane again refused to call another meeting.

Kenton then addressed Lane saying, "Mr. President I beg you for the sake of the Student Congress to try again to get a quorum." He said, "We are fighting to save the Congress, to save the reputation of a good Congress."

Lane replied that, "This is a reflection upon my leadership but not enough interest has been shown for me to call another meeting."

Marilyn Meredith and Gene Sayre also asked Lane to consider calling another meeting and he refused as before.

At 7:25 p.m. Monday, he called the meeting to end after a quorum had failed to show up.

As Lane adjourned the meeting, Kenton said, "We are petitioning for a new meeting."

Kenton started a petition among the members which read:

"We duly elected members of the Student Congress of the University of Kentucky request a meeting of the congress to convene on the seventh of May, 1963."

The petition was signed by Martha Bogart, Joe Harkins, Marilyn Meredith, Roger A. May, Catherine Ward, Ann Voigt, Guignol Players 'Stoop To Conquer'

"She Stoops to Conquer," a sentimental comedy of the latter eighteenth century, will romp across the stage of Guignol Theatre this Friday and Saturday, and again on May 10-11.

Oliver Goldsmith, an English poet and a man of letters, wrote the play in 1771, which was first produced at Covent Gardens 1773. Goldsmith was also a member of the Samuel Johnson Circle.

Charles Dickens, the laboratory theatre supervisor for Guignol and a UK professor, will play the part of Mr. Hardcastle. Playing the part of Hardcastle's wife will be Beverly Lawhorn, senior drama major from Danville.

Pam Brown, a junior education major from Lexington, will be Kate Hardcastle, the daughter, while the part of Tony Lumpkin will be portrayed by Alvin Polk, an Arts and Sciences junior from Louisville.

Other cast members include Peggy Pergen, a drama freshman major from Lexington; Richard Merrill, a Lexington business man; Ben Williams, an Arts and Sciences freshman from Stanton; Bill Hayes, a senior education student from the Canal Zone; and Dave Blakeman, a graduate student from Frankfort.

Taking the parts of servants will be Bon Schwartz, an Arts and Sciences sophomore, Louisville; Keith Goodacre, a drama freshman, Louisville; Anne Dietrich, graduate drama student; Eldon Phillips, a senior journalism major, Lexington; Martha Piper, a freshman education major, Lexington; David Phillips, a drama major, Bowling Green.

Drinking companions in the play will be Rosemary Boyer, a graduate drama major; Steve Atkinson, a music major from Ewing; Phil Blades, a psychiatric social worker at Eastern State Hospital; Carla Care, an Arts and Sciences freshman from North Olmstead, Ohio; and Faye Drew, an education senior from Lexington.

Members of the 1963-64 Kentucky Kernel news staff are, from the left, row one, Richard Stevenson, Elizabeth Ward, Earl Kinner, and Bill Grant. Pershing Rifles To Host Drill Meet This Weekend UK's Pershing Rifles will be host to the Regimental Drill Meet Friday and Saturday. The drill meet, featuring representatives of the 17 member schools, will be climaxed by a presidential review before Dr. Frank G. Dickey at 5 p.m., Saturday.

"A feature of the meet," Pete Davenport of the UK Pershing Rifles company said, "will be the Civil War battle between UK and Ohio State. The schools' teams will engage in the 1830 manual of arms and stage a mock battle."

The drill teams will participate in straight squadron and platoon drill in addition to the individual and special categories.

"Several of the schools will bring special exhibition squadrons and platoons. There will be several girls' drill teams here," Davenport said.

The meet will take place on the intramural field beside Stoll Field.

"Each team will be allowed a 15-minute drill sequence on which to be judged," Davenport said.

The competing teams come from the Ohio-Kentucky-Illinois-West Virginia region. They will include the Universities of Akron, Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati, and Kentucky, Central State College, Eastern Kentucky State College, and West Virginia State College.

Bowling Green State, Kent State, John Carroll, Youngstown, Xavier, Ohio State, Ohio, Marshall, and West Virginia Universities.

12 COLLEGES ATTEND ODK CONFERENCE

Representatives from 12 colleges in the Ohio Valley area attended the Omicron Delta Kappa Province Conference held at the University last week.

Activities consisted of an opening session beginning Friday night, two discussion groups Saturday morning, and closed after a luncheon Saturday afternoon.

"We hold a regional conference when there isn't a national conference scheduled," said Dr. Maurice Clay, Professor of Physical Education and the national administrative secretary of Omicron Delta Kappa.

The discussions this year dealt with the problems faced by universities in selecting candidates for membership in ODK," he said.

Dr. Dale Faunce from Western Michigan University presided over the conference this year, attended by approximately 42 members.

Preparations were also made for the 50th anniversary conference of the organization which will be held in Roanoke, Va. next year.

Republicans To Meet

The University Young Republican Club will meet tomorrow. Mrs. W. C. Cruse will speak to the club on "The Present State and the Future Development of the Kentucky Republican Party."

Due to the recent death of the chairman, she is now holding the office of Chairman of the Kentucky Republican State Committee. This is the highest official position in the state's Republican Party.

Mrs. Cruse has also served as Senator Thruston B. Morton's Field Representative for two years.

DR. MERL BAKER

KRF Head Takes Post At Missouri

Dr. Merl Baker, executive director of the Kentucky Research Foundation, resigned Friday to become dean of the faculty at the University of Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy.

His resignation becomes effective Aug. 31.

Dr. Frank G. Dickey, president of the University, told the Board of Trustees that the appointment indicated that Dr. Baker probably would receive a higher executive position with the University of Missouri within a few years.

The School of Mines and Metallurgy is a division of the University of Missouri but is located on a separate campus, at Rolla, Mo.

Dr. Baker has served as director of the Kentucky Research Foundation since 1953. He also serves as professor of mechanical engineering.

He is a native of Cadiz and received his bachelor's degree from UK in 1945. He received his Ph.D. from Purdue University in 1952.

SC Elections Uncertain

Nancy Read, Gene Sayre, Don Harris, Jim Shuffett, Jackie F. Robinson, Bill Kenton, and Lena Cowherd.

Following the meeting, Lane issued a statement enumerating his reasons for refusing to call another meeting.

He said, "Three meetings have already been called and we have not had a quorum. There is a definite lack of interest among the members. I feel that putting the election back into the assembly would prompt more interest in the assembly."

Sayre issued a statement charging Lane with "trying to perpetuate himself in office." Sayre said:

"I believe that even though there was not a quorum at the meeting of April 18 or tonight, the same interested SC members have attended both meetings. Now for some apparent reason, the president has found some organizational technicality to put off the election. I question his motives. I feel he is trying to perpetuate himself in office for some personal reason. He was elected in a spring election and now refuses the same right to his fellow students."

Dr. Gladden Named Professor Of Month

Dr. James W. Gladden, professor of sociology, has been chosen "Professor of the Month" for April by the members of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

He received his bachelor's degree from Waynesburg College and his master's and Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Gladden came to the University in 1949 as an assistant professor of sociology. He teaches courses in The Family, Sociology of Religion, and Introduction to Sociology.

His specialty is family life education and preparation for marriage. He has given numerous lectures and has spoken at three dozen colleges.

Dr. Gladden has written regularly for college magazines and was editor of "Motive" magazine, a Methodist publication for two years.

The "Professor of the Month" award is given monthly to some professor whom the chapter feels had made an outstanding contribution to the University and who has worked with his students personally.

Gate Crashing Challenges Skill

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who can afford everything, including the high tariff of benefit tickets, is among the freeloaders at charity balls this year.

For him gate crashing is a challenging, thrill-packed game, claim those whose duty it is to seek out and tactfully remove the uninvited from social events.

The bored rich have taken up the pastime just as the freeloaders have begun to lose ground, they say.

Young college boys, Ivy Leaguers generally, are devotees of the new game. But so are many adults clad in mink and soup and fish.

The crashers slip through the back door with the delivery men, or they brazenly stride through the front on the pretext of searching for a friend who has the tickets, and disappear in the throng.

Or they simply hasten past the ticket-taker with the how-dare-you-question-me attitude. This bold approach is absolutely essential for success, claims Emmett Davis. As a society public relations director Davis has participated in more charity balls than he cares to remember.

The blue-blooded gate crasher may later send a check to cover the price of the unpurchased tickets, adds Edward Seay, another busy socialite publicist.

But not always.

"Still, the chaps at the door aren't fooled every time even though they may pretend to be," says Seay.

"These people are usually such good society that they are recognized. They could be on anyone's guest list, if they wanted it. Sometimes, if the party is rather dull, the hosts really hope for an interesting gate crasher."

"So you see," Seay points out, "the game is played on both sides."

To bait his hosts a bit and therefore to increase the challenge in gate crashing, the Ivy Leaguer often intentionally wears casual clothes to black tie affairs.

But the professional freeloader's costume comes complete with cocktail glass for second act entrances. Arriving late, he wanders into the ballroom past the reservations table clutching a watery martini glass as if he had been around for hours.

Still the cheapest and most frequently used disguise for party crashing is a fake press card. These counterfeit credentials listing a foreign publication impossible to check not only get them beyond the ticket taker, but provides them with special press courtesies as well.

Eventually, they are found out because the legitimate press squeals on them. "It burns them up to see a phony posing as a reporter," Davis points out.

One of the most famous New York hotels keeps a rogue's gallery of secretly furnished uninvited guests to guide their detections.

Feminine intuition helps hotel publicist Gail Benedict to ferret out the pretenders.

Nevertheless, the utmost diplomacy must be used in handling gate crashers from any side of the track. If there is the vaguest possibility that a suspected freeloader's story is true, party hosts, catering personnel and detectives too let them alone rather than chance offending a legitimate guest, Miss Benedict says.

That's what makes the free-loading game easy.

Set A Date

We were indeed pleased with the decision of the Board of Directors of the Athletic Association favoring the integration of University athletic teams. This placed the University on record as being in favor of equal opportunities for all students to take part in UK athletics "as a matter of principle and policy."

At the same time, however, we wish the board had set a date for recruiting of Negro athletes to begin.

The board's statement that it "believes integration of UK teams can and should occur at the earliest time taking into account our conference obligations" leaves a loophole which opponents of integration can use as grounds for stalling.

We strongly recommend that the University announce it will begin recruiting qualified Negro athletes this fall. If this plan were adopted opponents of integration would have two years' notice before Negroes would be eligible to play in varsity competition.

Just what are "our conference obligations" in regard to playing of Negroes? Certainly they are not legal obligations. There is nothing in the charter of the Southeastern Conference which states that the playing of Negroes by member teams is forbidden.

We view the phrase as a dangerous one which can be used as a cloak for a dilatory approach to integration and for further placating those in the SEC who have demonstrated their prejudice against Negroes.

Perhaps this term "conference obligations" refers to the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" through which SEC members have refrained from recruiting Negroes since 1931.

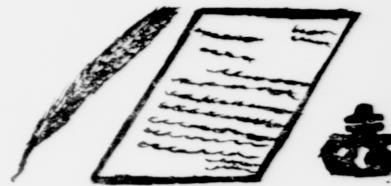

Gentlemen like this we don't need.

Again we strongly urge Dr. Dickey, the Board of Trustees, and the Board of Directors of the Athletic Association to do all in their power to begin a program of recruiting Negro athletes at the University, starting this fall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Congratulates Lane

To The Editor:

This letter pertains to the state of Student Congress and to the fact that the congress has failed to get a quorum at its last three meetings, the purpose of those meetings being to nominate officers for next year. I wish to congratulate Mr. Lane on his adjourning the meeting. If the members of Student Congress do not care enough to come to a meeting which was announced as important in the Kernel and on post cards telling of the meeting, then the congress ought to be dissolved. Personally, I don't believe that in an election now that we would find 25 percent of the students voting or caring anything about voting.

Something needs to be done about Student Congress. What, I don't exactly know. Even though the constitution was revised about two years ago, it is still not what we want. For one thing, the assembly is too large. Marilyn Meredith, who has just returned from the Southern University Student Government Association conference at Louisiana State University, stated that the University of Kentucky has the largest assembly of any of the 50 schools represented, much larger than most of the rest. Approximately 100 members is too large a number. Not only that, the members are not divided equally among the colleges. With this many positions available, most of the members are and can be elected by only having their names put on the ballot.

I am of the opinion that the present assembly and method of electing representatives should be discontinued in favor of some better method. I'm sure that Dr. Gifford Blyton, the Student Congress advisor, would have some very good ideas for a better way. At the present time a student in the congress does not really represent anybody but himself (his name and picture get in the Kentuckian). In most cases he did nothing after elected and does nothing after elected except stay away from meetings. To be a good Student Congress representative, one must work for his position, be willing to work, volunteering his services, and must be honored for being a member. The position must mean something to him and be respected by the student body.

Should we set up a senate consisting of the officers of the various classes which will be elected by each respective class, or should a governing body be set up consisting of delegates from the fraternities, sororities, residence halls, etc., or what? Let's hear some views concerning this matter or else let's dissolve Student Congress once and for all. President Lane has done a tremendous job along with a few others, including Joe Coughlin, Lockie Overby, and Jackie Robinson, but the congress has not been behind them, and without its support, they can do nothing. I for one call for a new student government with a smaller assembly and the representatives elected in a different way.

Bright Picture Painted For June Graduates

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second and the last in a series of articles concerning job opportunities for graduating seniors.

By The Collegiate Press Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has painted a generally bright picture ahead for the estimated 440,000 American college students who will receive their degrees in June.

Wirtz also noted that the future is exceptionally bright for the estimated 95,000 students who will be awarded graduate degrees.

In an open letter being prepared for 1963 college graduates, Wirtz says that the largest graduating class in the nation's history will find more jobs at better salaries than ever before. Getting priority in demand—and in pay will be graduates in scientific and technical fields.

Industries consuming the $50 billion spent annually by the government for defense needs are battling for engineering, mathematics, and physical science graduates. These graduates, along with accountants, continue to draw the highest starting salaries, while liberal arts majors get the lowest.

Labor Department statistics estimate the salary range for the new graduates to be between $4,500 and $7,200, for a three to five percent increase over last year.

Wirtz noted that women holding the same degrees as their male competitors will still get less money for their work in most industries, but said the situation is improving. He cautioned graduates not to be overwhelmed by high starting salaries when they are offered. "It's more important," he said, "to find the kind of work which is suited to your aptitudes, training, and long-term interest."

The Labor Secretary noted that severe teacher shortages still exist, and that new people are badly needed in almost all fields connected with health, education, and welfare.

Salaries and positions in almost all cases will be far better for those with graduate degrees. Wirtz urged all who are capable to go on to graduate work. "If you can continue on in graduate school," he said, "by all means, do it. And keep in mind scholarships, loans, and other forms of assistance to help you pursue advanced study."

Here's how the Labor Department breaks down job opportunities for June grads:

Journalism—Numerous openings, but, as always, low pay. There are plenty of newspaper jobs to be had, and advertising and public relations firms will snap up people who can really write well. Higher salaries are being paid for journalism grads working on trade and technical journals, with specialized knowledge of the field. A strong demand exists for writers in electronics and communications work for the aerospace industries.

Social Sciences—Outlook varied. Most of the 50,000 estimated graduates in the social sciences are expected to go on to graduate work. Those with graduate training will find much better job opportunities and pay.

Economics—Very good employment opportunities for graduate degrees in economics in government work and industry.

Political scientists who specialize in public administration and finance are very much in demand. Increasing employment in teaching and research.

Psychologists with Ph.D.'s are very much in demand in almost every field of specialization and in virtually all parts of the country. But grads with less than a Ph.D. may find themselves hunting for jobs.

Social work grads will find many chances for jobs in settlement houses, YMCA, YWCA, city agencies handling public assistance programs, child welfare services, and medical and psychiatric fields.

Health Professions—Shortages are reported in most all medical professions, particularly in the mental health field. Physicians will continue to have excellent opportunities. Only 7,200 are graduating this year and many more are needed, especially in rural areas. Good opportunities for specialists. Excellent opportunities for osteopaths.

Dentists—Prospects are good for most parts of the country. Special demand in the West and South. About 3,300 will graduate this June.

Veterinarians—are in very short supply, and prospects are very good both in private practice and in salaried employment.

Optometrists—will find less competition for desirable locations than in past years. Pharmacists are in very short supply for salaried positions.

Nurses are in great demand, and those with extensive college training will find many opportunities in administrative and supervisory work, as well as in teaching. There continues to be a widespread demand for medical technicians, physical and occupational therapists, dieticians, medical librarians, and other health workers.

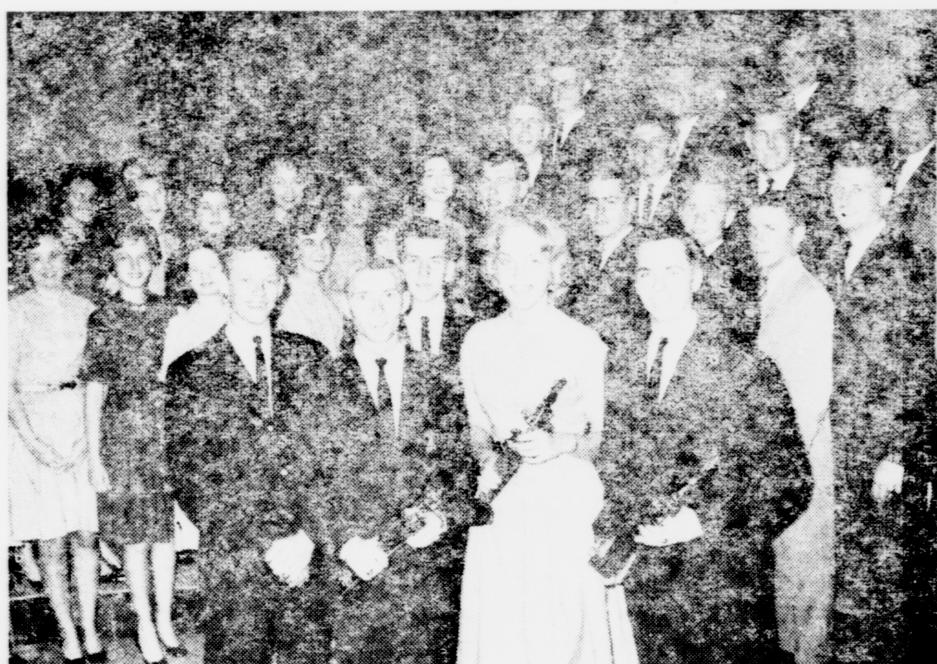

Performing Arts—Musicians, singers, and dancers with college degrees stand a better chance to get good jobs than those trained only as performers. Teachers in these subjects are in demand on all levels. But inexperienced persons will find great difficulty breaking into this field.

Civil service—Some 70 governmental departments each year hire thousands of fresh college graduates to fill a wide variety of posts. The Peace Corps also wants trained college graduates—and two years in the Corps is proving to be an excellent ticket into exciting work later on.

Business—Accounting graduates are in demand by private firms and government agencies. About 11,000 accounting graduates this June should have little trouble in landing jobs.

Sales representatives and trainees are in great demand. Management trainees with college degrees are also badly needed. Personnel work and advertising majors will find the going rough. The competition in these fields is keen. Numerous opportunities for clerical and related jobs will also be open to business administration majors or liberal arts graduates, with good prospects of promotion and pay.

Next Saturday afternoon at approximately 4:40, the 89th Kentucky Derby will be history. All the glamour and color will be over for another year.

All 88 derbies have had their exciting moments. But some of those during the past decade must rate close to the top in thrills and excitement. Here is a recap of the last 10.

1962—Favored Sir Gaylord was injured during his last workout. On Derby Even a gray named Decidedly came from behind to collar Roman Line and Ridan in the final sixteenth of a mile.

1961—The ugly duckling, a shabby looking little horse purchased for a measly $300 was the winner. Carry Back thrilled sports fans everywhere with his dazzling strides toward the finish line. Crozier, Globemaster, and Four-And-Twenty set the pace until the final turn as Carry Back zipped home from 10th place.

1960—The favorites lost out again. It was supposed to be a two horse affair between Tompion and Bally Ache. Bally Ache led most of the way but Venetian Way, under a brilliant ride by Bill Hartack, rolled home an easy winner. Victoria Park was third and Tompion fourth.

1959—At the turn for home and down the final stretch they thundered with Sword Dancer and Tomy Lee running neck and neck all the way. First Landing, the favorite, could do no better than third as Tomy Lee survived a photo and an inquiry in which Sword Dancer's mount, Bill Boland, claimed his colt had been severely bumped.

1958—Silky Sullivan waltzed out of the gate, admired the crowd, and when he realized it was time to make his last minute dash, Tim Tam was home with another win for Calumet Farm. Silky ran number 12 in a field of 14.

1957—Probably the wildest finish since Brokers Tip beat Head Play in 1933 took place as Willie Shoemaker, his horse in front, stood up on Galant Man a 16th of a mile from the finish. This was just long enough for Calumet's Iron Liege to stick his nose in front.

The night before the race, Mrs. Gene Markey said if General Duke, the early favorite, couldn't run then her Calumet Farm wouldn't have a prayer with only Iron Liege going. General Duke was withdrawn the following morning.

1956—A favorite was the winner. Needles, a Florida-bred colt, came from 16th place to overtake Fabius by a scant half-length.

Come On Red, longshot in the race, was going to run only if the track turned up muddy. It was a beautiful day but the owner entered the horse, reaching the decision by flipping a coin. Come On Red finished third.

1955—Quite an upset took place in the 1955 Derby. Nashua, everybody's choice, joined the list of so many outstanding thoroughbreds who failed to take the big one. California claimed the honors when Swaps moved in front and never relinquished the lead.

1954—A little colt named Determine became the first gray to win a Derby by overtaking Hasty Road. The experts really goofed this one up as favored Corralation ran sixth.

1953—“Hey mister,” a small boy playing in the grass called, “Want a tip on the Derby? Nope—Native Dancer ain’t gonna win it! Dark Star.”

Recipient of this tip was A. G. Vanderbilt, owner of the fabulous Native Dancer. This horse was destined to greatness from the very beginning, winning his first 11 with ridiculous ease.

During his career the Dancer won 21 of 22 races. But the streak was broken the first Saturday in May when a 24 to 1 shot named Dark Star broke on top and never faltered.

Native Dancer came like a tornado during those last few yards but lost by a neck in his attempt to become the Derby's first gray champion.

While Dark Star returned $51.80 for a two dollar win ticket, Native Dancer returned the all-time low of $2.20 to place and $2.40 to show.

SUMMER HELP WANTED

On Wednesday, May 1 a representative of the Courier-Journal will be on the campus from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. to interview and test applicants for summer employment. Applicants must be able to travel Kentucky and Southern Indiana during June, July and August. This position will pay salary plus travel expenses (no commissions). Contact the school placement office for location of the interviews.

UK Students Back Candy Spots; Chateaugay, Never Bend Picked

University of Kentucky students varied from 50-1 shot Rajah Noor to even money favorite Candy Spots on their Derby selections.

The following were asked to give their three top choices as to the outcome of Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

Bill Baker, an Arts and Sciences junior from Alexandria: 1. Chateaugay; 2. Candy Spots; 3. No Robbery.

Jon Fisher, an Arts and Sciences sophomore from Owensboro: 1. Never Bend; 2. Candy Spots; 3. Lemon Twist.

Tom Denver, an Engineering senior from Hartford: 1. Never Bend; 2. Candy Spots; 3. No Robbery.

Charles Molyneaux, an Engineering senior from Bardstown: 1. Rajah Noor; 2. Gray Pet; 3. No Robbery.

Ted Leight, an Arts and Sciences senior from Brooklyn: 1. Candy Spots; 2. On My Honor; 3. No Robbery.

Dan Omlor, an Arts and Sciences senior from Coropolis, Pa.: 1. Never Bend; 2. Candy Spots; 3. No Robbery.

James Kirkland, an Education graduate student from Gravel Switch: 1. Candy Spots; 2. Chateaugay; 3. No Robbery.

John Ed Goin, an Engineering senior from Middlesboro: 1. No Robbery; 2. Candy Spots; 3. Chateaugay.

John Anderson, an Engineering sophomore from Madisonville: 1. Candy Spots; 2. No Robbery; 3. Chateaugay.

Alan Chiles, an Agriculture junior from Cynthiana: 1. No Robbery; 2. Chateaugay; 3. Bonjour.

Paul Osborne, an Arts and Sciences sophomore from Hindman: 1. Never Bend; 2. Candy Spots; 3. No Robbery.

Wally Pagan, an Arts and Sciences junior from Bellevue: 1. Candy Spots; 2. No Robbery; 3. Lemon Twist.

Larry Schad, an Education senior from New Albany: 1. Never Bend; 2. Candy Spots; 3. Bonjour.

Cats-Frads' Dance Set For Saturday At 2 p.m.

An all-campus dance entitled "The Cats-Frads Derby Dance" has been arranged for Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The occasion has been set up to improve relations between football players and fraternities. The dance is to be held outside on the blacktop near the Sports Center dressing room if the weather is good. If the weather is not permitting, the dance will be moved to the gymnasium.

The event is to be co-sponsored by the football players and fraternities and is offered for the entertainment of the entire student body.

So that those interested in the running of the Kentucky Derby may not miss the annual race, televisions have been arranged to accommodate the interest.

To provide the music for the "Frads-Cats Derby Dance" will be the Sultans, who have played at many UK events. Both the football representatives and fraternities have expressed the hope that many students will come out and support the Derby festivity.

McCubbin Sees VPI As Major Challenge

For 18 years, Bill McCubbin has dedicated himself to the improvement of the University of Kentucky intramural program and its benefits to the participating students.

However, recently he announced that he has resigned from the UK physical education department and as the football academic supervisor to go to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He will assume duties as Head of the physical education department at VPI.

"I feel that VPI offers a tremendous opportunity and challenge, especially in their intramural program," explained the McCubbin.

McCubbin's history at UK dates still further than when he began teaching in 1945. He started his college career at Kentucky in 1936.

He became quite active during his four years after entering the campus by receiving three softball letters as a Wildcat end, and two letters on the baseball team. The two baseball merits were awarded him in the only two years he tried out.

After graduation in 1940, McCubbin spent four and one-half years in the U.S. Air Force. He retains and his obvious interest in the service and has since attained the rank of Major in the reserves.

When UK offered him an opportunity to develop his growing interest in intramurals in 1945, McCubbin seized the chance. He paralleled his physical education work with graduate work on his master's degree. Two years after he joined the teaching ranks, he was awarded his M.A. degree.

"In 1952, the greatest step forward was taken in the intramural program when Bernie Shively (UK Athletic Director) worked along with Dr. Donovan to set up an individual budget," recalled McCubbin.

Before this financial improvement, each student was required to donate a nominal fee before participating in any of the events.

A year after the budget was achieved, McCubbin was given a "leave" to work on his Ph.D. at Peabody College at Nashville. He returned to the Kentucky campus in 1955, where he has

Wildcats End Season On Road With Vandy; Two Games Slated

The Kentucky Wildcats baseball team started the season in such a winning flourish that many people predicted that this might be the year for an SEC play-off. But now the Cats are struggling to remain above the .500 mark.

The diamond edition has only two games left after yesterday's scheduled game with Eastern State College at Richmond. Vanderbilt will host the Cats Friday and Saturday in Nashville.

The UK nine will take an overall record of 11-9 into Nashville and a conference standing of 7-8. Earlier in the year, Kentucky edged Vandy in two games, 4-3 and 2-1, at the Sports Center.

In last week's final home stand, the Wildcats split two games with Georgia Tech and two games with Georgia. The latter two games had the Cats victorious 6-2 on Friday before falling 6-2, just before the Little Kentucky Derby.

Sports Shorts

Excluding the New York Mets and Houston Colts, every baseball team in the National League has won at least one pennant since 1945. But the American League is not so well balanced. Since 1945 the New York Yankees have won 12 pennants.

Eight Softball Games Slated In Intramurals

Independent and dormitory softball divisions will have a full slate of games scheduled this afternoon in intramurals.

The independent league has four games scheduled. The Electrical Engineers will meet Baptist Student Union, Pharmacy will face the Cliff Dwellers, Newman Club plays the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and Staff Saints meet the Sixty-Niners.

Four games are also on tap in the dormitory league. Donovan Fourth Floor Read vs. Donovan Fourth Floor Front, Donovan 1 & 3 vs. Bradley Hall 1 & 2, Haggan C-1 vs. Haggan B-2, and Haggan D-4 vs. Bradley 3 & 4.

No action is scheduled today in any of the fraternity divisions.

In other intramural activity two wrestling champions have been crowned. In the 143 pound division, Phil Hutchinson of Sigma Alpha Epsilon beat Donald Coffman, also of SAE.

The 159 pound division was won by Bob Volpe, Tau Kappa Epsilon who beat Ray Blevins, Kappa Sigma.

The 135 class title match will be between Tom Nolan, Alpha Tau Omega, and Rodney Gross, SAE. Also down to the final round are the 185 pound and heavyweight (186 and up) divisions. The 185 finalists are Ed Squires, SAE, and Frank Meyers, Phi Gamma Delta. The surviving heavyweights are James Mahan, Delta Tau Delta, and Steve McGee, Phi Delta Theta.

The tennis doubles tournament is in full action now as Carl Modecki and Larry Bass became the first team to qualify for the quarterfinals. The Delta Tau Delta pair eliminated Mickey Fessen and Dean Henderson, SAE.

Other teams still in the running include Duke and Curtis of ATO, who will meet the Cochran-Hamm combination of Sigma Nu. Matches between Kappa Sigma's John Conner and James Robert Paul against Bill Rifenburgh and Pat Vaughn of Sigma Nu are scheduled this week.

Ronald Compton and Bill Seymour of Lambda Chi Alpha will tangle with Phil Hutchinson and Bill Trammel of SAE. Another match will pit Taggart Foster and Ralph Wentzel of the Triangle against Bo Drescher and Wayne Stemmer of the Deltas.

Result: The experimental Ford Mustang, lively 2-seater loaded with significant engineering features

Just under 13 feet long—weight, 1544 pounds, 400 to 700 pounds less than comparable models of popular imported sports jobs—the Mustang is representative of the interesting design challenges at Ford Motor Company. Unique ways of reducing weight without sacrificing strength, to improve performance and economy, may stem from its design.

For example, seats are an integral part of the Mustang's body, adding structural rigidity. Brake, clutch and accelerator are mounted on a movable cluster which can be adjusted fore and aft (as can the steering wheel) to suit varying sizes of drivers.

Other important features: low-drag, aerodynamic shape proven in the wind tunnel; independent front and rear suspension; disc front brakes; roll bar built as an integral part of the body/frame structure; hot V-4 engine mounted forward of the rear axle in unit with a 4-speed manual transmission.

The Mustang is another example of how challenging assignments met by our engineers and stylists help Ford Motor Company maintain engineering leadership and provide new ideas for the American Road.
